GRADUATION POEM

To the Graduates of 2023

By Dr. Meghan P. Nolan

The heart cannot tell the time, and the past does not quite divine all that you are to become.
You earned this day— a special one.

You often felt you were alone,
but pandemics come and go,
and that knowledge made you aware of the common bonds we share.

More than just black boxes on screens.
More than our collective dreams.
You are the sum of an ever-present perseverance— Your push beyond the internal nagging toward a universal truth— To get to where you are,

to labor, as exemplar—

More than matriculation.
More than the procrastination that led to all those late night essay writing sessions— the strife

of lab reports, case studies,
runs for early morning coffee,
and somehow cramming homework between classes, family, and work.

You learned to cherish the accord forged among classmates, friends— short and long-term— as they understand the stress, the dread, the demand.

And, for all of this, be grateful.
Because without those struggles,
you would not be sitting here... bold,
ready to cross that threshold.

More than willing to make the plunge,
More than prepared to take on the full weight of these well-earned words and the credence they deserve:

Success is more than a measure.
You will engineer the future.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Dr. Susan Deer

Dr. Susan Deer currently serves as Officer in Charge at Rockland Community College. In 2008, she was hired as the Dean of Instruction at Rockland Community College and served in the position until becoming Vice President of Academic Affairs in 2010. In 2013, Dr. Deer was promoted to Provost and Vice President of Academic Affairs & Student Services, and second in charge to the President of the College. Her title was changed once again in 2016 to Provost and Executive Vice President. She was responsible for providing the leadership for all academic services, and has taken a leadership role in the design and implementation of the current Academic Master Plan, the re-design of developmental education, the College's new model of shared governance, and the "life happens" Connection Center. In addition, Dr. Deer has been the resource go-to person in meeting the Middle States accreditation standards over the past several years. Recently, she has been a leader in the collaborative implementation of a Guided Pathways model, which now offers 5 Schools versus 3 Divisions, and is designed to work more closely with keeping students on the path to completion.

As Chair of the Executive Committee of the Hudson Valley Educational Consortium, Dr. Deer established a regional collaboration amongst community colleges not only in the area of academics but also with local workforce development and industry. She has taken a leadership role in establishing strong partnerships with local two-year colleges, as the Consortium represents the six community colleges in the Mid-Hudson Region of New York State.

Prior to RCC, Dr. Deer was the Men's and Women's Athletic Director at Orange County Community College where she was the only woman to serve in the capacity of Commissioner of Region XV of the NJCAA overseeing all of men's and women's community college athletic programs in the Hudson Valley, New York City, and Long Island. Dr. Deer also served as a Department Chair, a professional staff and Department Chair union president, and an Associate Vice President for the Health Professions during her tenure at Orange County Community College. Her Ph.D., from Capella University, is in Education, with a specific emphasis in Leadership in Higher Education. In recognition for her leadership, Dr. Deer was awarded the Catalyst Leadership Award by the American Council on Education (ACE) in 2016 as the New York State outstanding woman leader in higher education.

The College Symbols

There are three key symbols of Rockland Community College that express the history and tradition of the College. The special occasion of Commencement is distinguished by the use of these meaningful symbols.

The Chain of Office

The Presidential Chain of Office of Rockland Community College consists of ten frames, alternating with round links made up of concentric initials “RCC” and displaying the map of Rockland County on the right side of the circle. Each of the frames illustrates one of the ten academic programs and carries in the center a globe flanked by olive leaves, indicating the College’s contribution to world peace through its strong emphasis on community service.

The front of the chain shows the frames for the Liberal Arts, Health Sciences, Engineering, Performing Arts, Nursing and Natural Sciences programs, and the pentagonal medallion depicting the College Seal. The medallion also pays homage to the community that Rockland Community College serves, with the green acrylic representing the County colors and the rocks flanking the pentagonal frames depict the beautifully-rugged Hudson River shore line.

In the center of the back of the chain is a shield showing the map of Rockland County surrounded by an engraved inscription and five rays, which are symbolic of the Business Administration, International and Criminal Justice programs.

The chain was designed and made by Kurt Matzdorf, Professor Emeritus of Gold and Silversmithing at the State University of New York College at New Paltz.

The Seal

The Seal of Rockland Community College brings together the relationship with the State University of New York. The gold plated State University of New York seal surrounded by the inscription “Rockland Community College” shows the heritage of the school.

The Mace

The ornamental staff, which serves as the official symbol of Rockland Community College, is a gift from the Rockland Community College Foundation. The Mace symbolizes the College’s governing authority and is only used in proceedings that have official sanction.

The Mace was designed and crafted by silversmith and sculptor Harold Schremmer of West Warwick, Rhode Island. It is a study in diverse and contrasting wood, metals, texture and color. At its crown is a bronze medallion displaying the Rockland County seal on one side and the New York State seal on the reverse. Beneath the crown is a sterling silver glove with a ring of thick metal letters spelling “Rockland Community College, 1959.” The wood staff is sculpted from decorative Purple Heart wood in a non-glossy oil finish. The Mace’s counter balance is of copper and bronze in a dark patina. The segmented form was designed to convey the feeling of the original medieval mace design.

History of Rockland Community College

A look back at the history of Rockland Community College reveals an institution that has grown deep roots in the community for more than half a century. From its inception, Rockland Community College was envisioned as an institution that would serve all of the residents of Rockland County, but in particular those who, for a variety of reasons, lacked the opportunity to pursue higher education. Based on the doctoral thesis of Ramapo Central School District Superintendent Lester E. Rounds, and through the work of the Rockland County Community College Committee, the College became a reality in 1959. Sponsored by the Rockland County Board of Supervisors, approved by the State Department of Education and supported by local and state funds, Rockland Community College’s first students attended classes in the former Rockland County Welfare Home (now the Administration Building – Brucker Hall).

The College’s responsiveness to the community was reflected in the variety of courses, schedules and mix of students when it opened its doors on September 30, 1959. Some students were homemakers with children to care for. One was a woman who had never completed high school because she had lived in Africa during her teens. Of the men, seven were beyond “traditional” college age, some were veterans and some were disabled. A few were recent immigrants who had completed high school equivalency requirements. An additional ten-percent of that class was comprised of students who had withdrawn from four-year institutions.

As is underlining the word community, the initial schedule of day classes was promptly expanded to include evening and weekend classes for a working adult population every bit as eager to learn as the younger “traditional” student. Today, that same prompt recognition of, and response to, student interests and needs remain the hallmark of Rockland Community College.

In addition to the main campus in Suffern, the College offers conveniently located learning opportunities throughout Rockland County. The Haverstraw Center is home to our 3D Printing Smart Lab, Community Education Programs, and Business Services Mall. The Herbert Kurz Automotive Technology Center in Orangeburg offers specialized career training in a state-of-the-art facility, and the Hospitality and Culinary Arts Center in Nyack, incorporates the newest ideas in the culinary arts.

The Division of Economic Mobility and Workforce Innovation at Rockland Community College offers a portfolio of in-demand workforce and career development programs designed to prepare learners for a new economy, connect learners to economic opportunities, and solve employer talent needs. This includes microcredentials, industry-specific workforce credentials, and community education programs available to all, from young adults graduating high school to older learners looking to upskill.

Starting with a full-time enrollment of 139 men and women who risked a new and untried school more than half a century ago, Rockland Community College has become a focal point in the educational, cultural and economic life of the region. In the best and truest sense of the word, “Community” remains its middle name.
